THE BATTLE.

TRANSLATED FROM SCHILLER BY BULWER.

Heavy and solemn, a cloudy column,
Through the green plain marching came!
Measureless spread like a fable dread,
For the wild grim diesof the iron game.
Looks are bent on the shaking ground,
Hearts beat loud with a knelling sound;
Swiftly by the breasts that must bear the brunt,
Gallops the Major along the front—
"Halt!"

And fluttered they stand at the stark command,
And the warriors, silent, halt!

Proud is the blush of morning glowing,
What on the hill-top shines in flowing!
"See you the foeman's banner waving?"
"We see the foeman's banner waving!"
"God be with you, children and wife!"

Hark to the music—the trump and the fife—
How they ring through the ranks which they rouse to the strife!

Thrilling they sound, with their glorious tone—
Thrilling they go through the marrow and bone;
Brothers, God grant, when this life is o'er,
In the world to come, that we meet once more!

See the smoke how the lightning is cleaving asunder!
Hark! the guns peal and peal—how they boom in their thunder!

From host to host with kindling sound,
The shouting signal circles round;
Ay! shout it forth to life or death—
Freer already breathes the breath!
The war is waging, slaughter raging,
And heavy through the reeking pall
The iron death-dice fall!

Nearer they close—foes upon foes—
"Ready!"—from square to square it goes.
They kneel as one man, from flank to flank
And the fire comes sharp from the foremost rank.
Many a soldier to earth is sent,
Many a gap by the ball is rent:
O'er the corpse before springs the hinder man,
That the line may not fail to the fearless van.
To the right, to the left, and around and around,
Death whirls in its dance on the bloody ground,
God's sunlight is quenched in the fiery fight,
Over the host fall a brooding night!

Brothers, God grant, when this life is o'er,
In the life to come, that we meet once more!

The dead men lie bathed in the weltering blood,
And the living are blent in the slippery flood.
And the feet, as they reeling and sliding go,
Stumble still on the corpses that sleep below;
"What! Francis!" "Give Charlotte thy last farewell!"
As the dying man murmurs, the thunders swell.
"I'll give—O, God! are their guns so near!
Ho! comrades! You volley! Look sharp to the rear!—
I'll give to thy Charlotte thy last farewell!
Sleep soft! where death thickest descendeth in rain,
The friend thou forsakest thy side may regain!"
Hitherward, thitherward reels the fight;
Darkly and more darkly glooms into night;

Brothers, God grant, when this life is o'er,
In the life to come, that we meet once more!

Hark to the hoofs that galloping go,
The adjutants flying—
The horsemen press hard on the panting foe,
Their thunder booms in dying—
Victory!
Terror has seized on the dastards all,
And their colors fall!
Victory!
Closed is the brunt of the glorious fight!
And the day, like a conqueror bursts on the night,
Trumpet and fife swelling choral along,
The triumph already sweeps marching in song.
Farewell, fallen brothers; though this life be o'er,
There's another in which we shall meet you once more

AS YOU HAVE OPPORTUNITY.

Mr. Frazier sat reading in his counting-room. He was in the midst of a piece of interesting news, when a lad came to the door and said—"Do you want a boy, sir?"

Without lifting his eyes from the paper, Mr. Frazier answered "No," to the applicant, and in a rather rough way. Before the lad reached the street, conscience had compelled the merchant to listen to a rebuking sentence.

"You might have spoken kindly to the poor boy, at least," said conscience; "this is an opportunity."

Mr. Frazier let the paper fall from before his eyes, and turned to look at the lad. He was small—not twelve years old, to appearance—poorly attired but clean. The merchant tapped against one of the windows in the counting-room, and the boy glanced back over his shoulder. A sign from the merchant caused him to return.

"Do you want a boy, sir?" The lad repeated the words he had spoken a few moments before.

Mr. Frazier looked at him with a suddenly-awaked interest. He had a fair, girlish face, and, though slender and delicate in appearance, stood erect, and with a manliness of aspect that showed him to be already conscious of duty in the world. But there did not seem to be much of that stuff in him which is needed for the battle of life.

"Take a chair," said Mr. Frazier, involuntary respect for the lad getting possession of his mind. The boy sat down, with his large clear eyes fixed on the merchant's face.

"How old are you?"

"I was twelve, sir, last month," replied the boy.

"What splendid eyes!" said the merchant to himself. "And I have seen them before. Soft, dark, and lustrious as a woman's.

Away back in the past went the thoughts of Mr. Frazier, borne on the light of those beautiful eyes; and for some moments he forgot the present in the past. But when he came back into the present again, he had a softened heart towards the strange lad.

"You should go to school a year or two longer," he said.

"I must help my mother" replied the boy.

"Is your mother very poor?"

"Yes, sir; and she is sick."

The lad's voice shook a little, and his soft, womanly eyes grew brighter in the tears that filled them. Mr. Frazier had already forgotten the point of interest in the news after which his mind was searching when the boy interrupted him.

"I don't want a lad myself," said Mr. Frazier, "but it may be that I could speak a good word for you, you know. I think you would make an honest, useful lad.—But you are not strong."

"Oh, yes, sir, I am strong!" replied the boy, as he stood up in a brave and manly spirit.

The merchant looked at him with a steadily increasing interest.

"What is your name?" he asked.

"Charles Leonard, sir."

There was an instant change in the merchant's manner, and he turned his face so far away that the boys eyes could not see the expression. For a long time he sat still and silent—so long that the boy wondered.

"Is your father living?" Mr. Frazier did not look at the boy, but still kept his face away. His voice was low and not very even.

"No, sir; he died four years ago" the lad replied.

"Where?" The voice was quicker and firmer.

"In London, sir."

"How long is it since you came to America?"

"Two years."

"And have you been in this city ever since?"

"No, sir; we came here with my uncle a year ago; but he died in a month after wards."

"What was your uncle's name?"

"Mr. Hoyle, sir."

Then came another long silence, in which the lad was not able to see the merchant's countenance. But when he did look at him again, there was such a new and kind expression to the eyes which seemed almost to devour his face, that he felt an assurance in his heart that Mr. Frazier was a good man, and would be a friend to his mother.

"Sit there for a little while," said Mr. Frazier, and turning to his desk he wrote a note, in which, without permitting the lad to see what he was doing, he enclosed two or three bank bills.

"Take this to your mother," he said, handing the note to the lad.

"You'll try and get me a place, sir, won't you?" The boy lifted to him an appealing look.

"Oh yes; you shall have a good place. But stay; you have not told me where you live."

"At Number ——, Melon street."

"Very well." Mr. Frazier noted down the street and number. "And now take that note to your mother."

The merchant did not resume his newspaper after the lad departed. He had lost all interest in its contents. For a long time he sat with his hand shading his face, so that no one saw its expression. If spoken to on any matter, he answered briefly, and with none of his usual interest in business. The change in him was so marked that one of his partners asked him if he was not unwell.

"I feel a little dull," was his evasive reply.

Before his usual time Mr. Frazier left the store and went home. As he opened the door of his dwelling, the distressed cries and sobbings of a child came with an unpleasant shock upon his ears. He went up stairs with two or three long strides, and entered the nursery, whence the cries came.

"What's the matter darling?" he said, as he caught the weeper in his arms—"what ails my little Maggie?"

"Oh! papa, papa!" sobbed the child, clinging to his neck, and laying her wet cheek close to his.

"Jane," said Mr. Frazier, looking at the nurse, and speaking with some sternness of manner, "Why is Maggie crying so?"

The girl looked excited and pale. "She's been naughty," was her answer.

"No, papa, I haven't been naughty," said the child indignantly. "I didnt want to stay here all alone, and then she pinched and slapped me so hard! Oh! papa!" and the child's wail rung out again as she clung to his neck sobbing.

"Has she ever pinched and slapped you before?" asked the father.

"She has, almost every day," answered the little girl.

"Why haven't you told me of this before?"

"She said she'd throw me out of the window if I told! Oh, dear! don't let her do it, papa!"

"It's a lie," exclaimed the nurse, passionately.

"Just look at my poor leg, papa."—The child said this in a choking, suppressed whisper, with her lips close to her father's ear.

Mr. Frazier sat down, and baring the child's hip, saw that it was covered with blue and greenish spots, all above the knee; there were not less than a dozen of these disfiguring marks. He examined the other leg, and found it in the same condition. Mr. Frazier loved that child with deep tenderness. She was his all to love. Her mother, between whom and himself there never had been any sympathy, died about two years before; and since that time his precious darling—the apple of his eye—had been left to the tender mercies of hired nurses, over whose conduct it was impossible for him to have any right observation. He had often feared that Maggie was neglected—often troubled himself on her account—but a suspicion of cruelty like this had never entered his imagination as possible. Mr. Frazier was profoundly disturbed, but even in his passion he was very calm.

"Jane," said he, sternly, "I wish you to leave the house immediately."

"Mr. Frazier—"

"Silence!" He showed himself so stern and angry, even in his suppressed utterance of the word, that Jane started, and left the room immediately.

Mr. Frazier rung the bell, and to the waiter who answered it he said—"See that Jane leaves the house, at once. I have discharged her. Here is the money that is due to her. I must not see her again."

As the waiter left the room Mr. Frazier hugged the child to his heart again, and kissed her with an eagerness of manner that was unusual with him. He was fond but quiet in his caresses. Now the sleeping impulses of a strong heart were all awake and active.

In a small back chamber sat a pale, sweet faced, patient-looking woman, reading a letter which had just been left by the postman.

"Thank God!" said she, as she finished reading it, and her soft brown eyes were lifted upward. "It looked very dark," she murmured, "but the morning has broken again." At length a quick step was heard on the stairs, and the door was hastily pushed open.

"Charles, dear!"

The boy entered with an excited countenance. "I'm going to have a place, mother," he cried to her, the moment his feet were inside of the door. The pale woman smiled and held out her hand to her boy. He came quickly to her side.

"There is no necessity for your getting a place now, Charles. We shall go back to England."

"Oh, mother!" The boy's face was all aglow with sunbeams.

"Here's a letter from a gentleman in New York, who says he is directed to pay our passage to England, if we return.—God is good, my son. Let us be thankful."

Charles now drew from his pocket the note which Mr. Frazier had given him, and handed it to his mother.

"What is this?" she asked.

"The gentleman who promised to get me a place told me to give it to you," he replied.

The woman broke the seal. There were three bank-bills, of ten dollars each enclosed, and this brief sentence written on the sheet of paper: "God sent your son to a true friend. Let him come again, tomorrow."

"Who gave you this?" she asked, her face becoming flushed with sudden excitement.

"A gentleman. But I don't know who he was. I went into a great many stores to ask if they didn't want a boy, and at last I came to the one where the gentleman was who sent you this letter. He spoke roughly at first; and then called me back and asked me who I was, and about my mother. I told him your name, and how father died, and that you were sick. Then he sat a good while, and said nothing; and then wrote the note, and told me he would get me a place. He was a kind-looking man, if he did speak roughly at first.

"Did you see what name was upon the sign?"

"I never thought to look," replied the boy. "I was so glad when I came away. But I am very sure I can go straight to the place."

"I will write the gentleman a note, thanking him for his kindness, and you must take it to him in the morning.—How light it makes my heart feel to know that we are going back to England! God is good to us, my son, and we must be obedient and thankful.

Just a little before the evening twilight fell, word came up to the woman that a gentleman had called and wished to see her.

"Go and see who it is, Charles," said she to her son.

"Oh, mother! It's the gentleman who sent you the note," exclaimed he, in an under tone, coming back quietly; and he wants you. Can he come up?"

There was a hasty glance of the woman's eyes around the room to see if everything was in good order, then a few changes in attire. "Ask him to come up, my son," she said, and Charles went down stairs again.

A man's firm tread approached the door. It was opened, and the boy's mother and the boy's new-found friend looked into each other's faces.

"Oh, Edward!" fell from her lips in a quick, surprised voice; and she started from her chair and stood strongly agitated before him. He advanced, not speaking until he had taken her hand.

"Florence! I never thought to see you thus." He said it in a kind, calm, evenly-modulated voice; but her ears were finely enough chorded to perceive the deep emotion that lay beneath. He said it, looking down into the dark, soft, tender, brown eyes. "But I think there is a Providence in our meeting," he added, solemnly.

They sat down and talked long together; they talked of the times gone by, and of the causes that had separated them, while their hearts beat only for each other—of the weary years that had passed for both of them since then—of the actual present of their lives.

"I have a motherless child," he said at last, "a tender little thing that I love, and to-day I find her body purple with bruises from the hands of a cruel servant! Florence, will you be a mother to that child?

You have a noble boy that is fatherless; let me be to him as a father! Oh, Florence, there has been a great void in our lives. A dark and impassable river has flowed between us for years. But we stand at last together; and if the old love fills your heart as it does mine, there are golden days for us in the future."

And so it proved. The lady and her son did not go back to England, but passed to the merchant's stately residence—she becoming its mistress, and he finding a home and a truer father than the one he had in former years called by that name.

The Man Who Knows Everything.

A mighty knowing man was Caleb Page, who kept the grocery at the fork of the road, Woodchuck creek, Sprang Hollow, in the village of Hornville. No occurrence had taken place, of all the particulars of which Caleb did not possess a thorough knowledge in the minutest detail. All matters in the prospective were anticipated, discussed, arranged, and satisfactorily disposed of by Caleb, long before they took place. If a neighbor rushed into the store to communicate what he believed to be a very recent piece of news, he would have the conceit taken out of him by being told by Caleb that he "had heard it a week ago." Events of the past, present, and future were all the same to him; his ubiquitious knowledge grasped and covered them all—to him they were all "stale news."

A small bet was made one evening between Si Stevens and Joe Stubbins. Si bet Joe couldn't nonplus Caleb with any piece of intelligence—real or imaginary. Joe took all such bets as that.

The following evening Si and Joe, accompanied by two or three more of the "boys" of the village, who were to help the thing along, and "fill in" proceeded to Caleb's store. After being comfortably seated here and there, on barrels, boxes, ect., Si opened the evening's amusement by asking, in a manner that indicated he was continuing a conversation commenced before they had entered the store:

"So you say, Joe, that they caught him at last?"

"Yes, sir, about seventeen minutes past eight."

"Well, Joe, how far up the creek was it?"

"On a careful consideration, I should say it was about three miles, or three miles and a quarter, or perhaps a half up the creek."

Caleb who had not lost a word of the conversation dropped his sugar scoop with astonishment, and opened his ears, for the boys were talking about a matter in which he was not "posted." The conversation continued:

"Well!" says Si, "that couldn't" a been far from Deacon Hunt's?"

"Jest so," answered Joe, it was about eight rods from the Deacon's hog-pen, in a slanch-wise direction."

"Did you hear, Joe," with a face as solid as a gravestone, "how much ile they got?"

"Yes I did," replied Joe, with another face as solemn as two gravestones; "I hearn that they got nearly sixty barrels of it."

"The wags observed that Caleb was getting exceedingly uneasy, and "piled it on."

"Well, Joseph, how long was the reptile?"

"Well, Silas, the insect was about eighty-two feet long, and twenty-eight feet odd inches broad—thick in proportion."

"I thought, Joe, that there was two on 'em."

"That's a fact; there was a pair on 'em but they only caught the he one."

At this point of the dialogue Caleb became so desperately excited that he could contain himself no longer, and snappishly demanded to know "what'n thunder they were talking about?"

"Why," said Joe, with well feigned astonishment, "don't you know about their catching that are——"

"That are what?" peevishly snarled Caleb.

"That are whale!" seriously answered Joe.

"A whale!" exclaimed the bewildered Caleb, have they caught a whale up the creek?"

"They haven't caught anything else," said the imperturable Joe.

"And how much ile did they get?" inquired Caleb as he recovered his wits.

"Ninety-two bar'ls replied Joe forgetting the amount he had previously mentioned.

"Well," said Caleb, with slow deliberation, and a satisfied look, "I'm glad they caught that whale, I heard they were arter him."

MALICE OUTWITTED.

The owner of a saw-mill in the country having a bitter enmity against a neighboring farmer, laid no less a plan of revenge than to get him arraigned as a thief convicted and sent to the penitentiary.—But as the honesty of his neighbors afforded him no fair grounds of accusation, he resorted to the foul expedient of secretly conveying some of his own property upon the others premises; so that, it being found there, it might be proof of his guilt. For this purpose he took a thousand of boards, having his own mark on, and at dead of night dumped them into the field near his neighbor's house. But the farmer did not happen to be as fast asleep as his enemy supposed. He heard a noise, or thought he heard one; and getting up pretty soon after, to satisfy himself on the subject, by the help of a lantern he found a load of boards with his neighbors mark thereon. How they came there, and why they came there, flashed upon him at once. His course was promptly taken. Allowing his enemy just time to get fairly home and into bed, so that the light of the burning pile might not be detected, he set fire to the boards, which being well seasoned, were in a few minutes entirely consumed.

Early in the morning, as the farmer had anticipated, the sawyer came with a constable and search-warrant to look for his property.

"You are suspected," said the officer, "of having taken a thousand of boards from this man, and by virtue of this warrant, I hold in my hand, I must search your premises."

"Very well," said the farmer, "you are at liberty to search as much as you please. But if you find the boards, I'll engage to eat them for my breakfast."

"You'll have something harder to digest than that, I fancy," said the sawyer with a sneer. He then triumphantly led the way to where he had dumped the boards, and where he confidently expected to find them, and lo! there was nothing but a heap of ashes! His disappointment chagrin and mortification may be judged of. He sneaked away home; and the secret of his foul plot getting wind in the neighborhood, the ghost from the ashes of the load of boards never ceased to annoy him, until taking the advantage of another night, he packed up his all and left the country.

From Kentucky.

The scenes of civil war that are now being enacted in Virginia and Missouri, are about to be repeated upon the soil of Kentucky. Her desire to remain neutral has only for a time averted the calamity. All knowing persons easily foresees that she could not successfully maintain that position, and her loyal people have at last waked up to the fact that they were only thereby playing into the hands of their enemies, and feel now that it will require the greater effort to free themselves from the grasp of the Southern monarchists. The Legislature of the State now stands firmly by the Union and has demanded of the General Government that assistance which it is in duty bound to render, by sending a force of men which, in conjunction with the loyal inhabitants, will be sufficient to expel the lawless minions of Jeff. Davis from the State. Brig. Gen. Anderson, who has been appointed to the command of the military forces of the State, has issued the following proclamation to the people thereof:

KENTUCKIANS:—Called by the Legislature of this my native State, I hereby assume command of this Department. I come to enforce not to make laws, and, God willing, to protect your property and lives. The enemies of the country have dared to invade our soil. Kentucky is in danger. She has vainly striven to keep peace with her neighbors. Our State is now invaded by those who professed to be her friends, but who now seek to conquer her. No true son of Kentucky can longer hesitate as to his duty to his State and country. The invaders must, and, God willing, will be expelled.—The leader of the hostile forces who now approaches is, I regret to say, a Kentuckian, making war on Kentucky and Kentuckians. Let all past differences of opinion be overlooked.—Every one who now rallies to the support of our Union and our State is a friend. Rally, then, my countrymen, around the flag our fathers loved, and which has sheilded us so long. I call you to arms for self defence, and for the protection of all that is dear to freemen. Let us trust in God, and do our duty as did our fathers.

(Signed) ROBERT ANDERSON,
Brig Gen. U. S. A.

Gov. Magoffin has also issued a proclamation ordering Gen. Thos. L. Crittenden to execute the purposes contemplated by the recent resolution of the Legislature in reference to the expulsion of the invaders. Gen. C. has ordered the military to muster forthwith into service.

Gen. Buckner, the commander of the rebel forces in that State, has likewise issued a proclamation to the people, wherein he promises that if the Federal forces are withdrawn the Confederate forces will also leave the State, and also pledging the use of his army to maintain the neutral position of the State. But the loyal people well know the treachery of the leaders of the rebellion and are not disposed longer to play into the hands of Jeff. Davis & Co., by hugging the delusive phantom of hope, in the shape of neutrality, while these wily Southern serpents are increasing the length and strength of their coils by singing Syrian songs of peace. There is no neutrality in this was. Men are either patriots or traitors. There is no peace save that which shall be attained by the complete triumph of the Federal arms. The fight must come in Kentucky and the sooner the better. We confidently believe that the loyal men of that State, with the aid of the troops that are now pouring into it from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, will make short work of Secession. The conflict may be bloody, but right and liberty, truth and justice will prevail.

☞ Among the most interesting features in the composition of our army is the number of foreign officers who have proffered their services as volunteers, and have been accepted by the President. The following list, we believe comprises the whole of them:

|---|---|
| Prince Salm-Salm, | Prussia. |
| Colonel Liebenhoff, | Prussia. |
| Lieutenant Oscar Brendeuer, | Prussia. |
| Lord Adolphus Vane Tempest | England |
| Lieutenant Colonel Fitzroy de Courcy | England |
| Count de Paris, | France. |
| Duke de Chartres, | France. |
| Captain Vegesack, | Sweden. |
| Captain Holtman, | Sweden. |
| Major W. A. Kirk, | Canada. |
| Colonel R. A Rankin, | Canada. |

The War in Missouri.

The war for the Union now wages the hottest in Missouri. Every day brings us accounts of desperate rencontres between the Federal forces and the rebels. For a week past we have been kept in suspense as to the issue of a contest for the town of Lexington, on the Missouri river. The town contains about 5,000 inhabitants and was occupied by Col. Mulligan in command of Irish brigade of 900, 600 cavalry, 500 mounted home guards and 500 infantry home guards—in all 2,500 men. He had thrown up entrenchments all around the town and felt sure that he could hold the place against ten times his number. On Saturday or Monday week, Gen. Price, with a rebel army of about 25,000 men, appeared before the place and demanded Mulligan to surrender. Mulligan replied by telling him to go to a rather warm climate. Price then stormed the works, but was repulsed with heavy loss. Again and again he assayed to take the fortifications, but was always driven back. Reinforcements were dispatched to Mulligan, but from late accounts it is evident they did not reach him. For five days, Mulligan held out against Price's army. On Friday evening last, however, he was compelled to surrender. His men were utterly exhausted and had fought for more than a day without water. Mulligan's defence of Lexington is one of the most heroic on record, and it is with sorrow that we announce his surrender. The report says that Mulligan lost 37 in killed and 140 wounded, and the rebels about 1,000 killed and wounded.

Gen. McCulloch is now marching on Jefferson city, the capitol of the State, with a large and well equipped army.—Every preparation has been made to meet him, and if he carries out his design, a warm time may be expected.

Gen. Fremont has now a well equipped army of over 30,000 men at St. Louis, and it is constantly being increased. With this army it is believed that he can make short work of the rebellion in Missouri. All the members of his staff have been ordered to report themselves ready for immediate service.

THE SURRENDER OF COL. MULLIGAN.

HUDSON, Mo., Sept. 23.—The following account of the siege of Lexington is furnished to the St. Louis "Republican" by Henry Bradburn, one of Col. Mulligan's Soldiers, who left Lexington on Saturday morning. The fort was surrendered on Friday afternoon. The men fought for fifty-nine hours without water, and had only three barrels of vinegar to quench their thirst during all that time. There were no springs or wells of water in the camp ground as has been stated. The supply was from the river, and was cut off after a desperate fight on Wednesday. The camp ground consisted of about ten acres, and was located a short distance from the river. There were breast-works entirely around it with the exception of the portion next the river. It was here the hardest fighting took place.

The rebels procured a large number of hemp bales, rolled them in advance, and under their cover gradually succeeded in securing a position in the rear. They then cut off the supply of water, and had the fort completely surrounded They made but few charges upon the breast-works during the entire siege, their object seemed to be to surround the fort and cut off the supply of water. Having succeeded in this they awaited until Col. Mulligan was compelled to yeild to the foe more terrible than the twenty-seven thousand rebels that surrounded him.

Previous to the surrender he offered to take a position on a level spot of ground and give Gen. Price the odds of four to one in a fair and open fight, but no attention was paid to it.—After the surrender the rebels mounted the breastworks and seemed mad with joy.

As soon as the surrender took place a party took down the flag and trailed it in the dust.—An immense amount of gold, supposed to be about a quarter of a million, fell into the possession of the rebels. It was taken from the banks and buried by Col. Mulligan on the camp ground, some time ago. The rebels speedily unearthed it.

Col. Mulligan wept like a child when he found himself compelled to surrender. The morning after the surrender the men were all released on parole and ferried across the river. The officers were retained. The loss of the rebels is not known, but it is thought to be not less than a thousand killed and wounded.—Their first attack proved more disastrous to them than the long siege which followed. For day or two previous to the last attack, they were engaged in burying their dead.

Fleets Abroad.

Within the past two weeks it is said that two large fleets have been despatched to the Southern coasts, but so quietly has it been done that we are unable to tell when or from whence they sailed, how many vessels and men there were, who commanded the expeditions, or whither they were bound. The latter we would not tell if we did know. Suffice it to say that the blow will fall where the rebels least expect it, but where it will prove most effective to the Federal Government. It is evidently the policy of the Government to prevent a collision of the armies at Washington and thereby save life, and this will be accomplished by diversions upon the long range of Southern sea coast. No fight will come off at Washington unless forced upon our lines by an attempt to take the city. There is a novelty and excitement about these secret expeditions which a full revelation of their strength and destination would entirely destroy. As it is, we do not anticipate or speculate upon the result of them, and when the news of their achievements are published we enjoy it the more.

OUR ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

CAMP NEAR FORT CORCORAN, VA.
September 12th, 1861.

MESSRS EDITORS:—In my last letter to you I intimated and certainly expected that we would ere this, have made an advance on the enemy, but the order came to resume our duties, as before. You may rest assured we were disappointed, for we all really expected to be on a march by day-light the next morning. We are getting tired of camp-life, and there is not a man of us but would be glad to engage the enemy in mortal combat.

There has been rumors of slight skirmishing in the vicinity of the Chain Bridge, and also between the pickets of the two armies. A day or two since I was conversing with a returned picket who told me that they have had frequent shots between them, often attended with fatal results, and that since their regiment has been engaged on picket duty—about six weeks—they have lost over 40 men, all of whom have been shot by the rebels. He told me that when last out, on Tuesday or Wednesday last, one poor fellow was shot through the heart while eating his dinner. Our men being venturesome emerge from their cover and are picked off by the rebel pickets, who are constantly on the alert, though concealed from view. There is a dwelling house about four miles from here, known as Hall's House, which our pickets occupy during the day, but at night the rebels chase them out and occupy it, to be themselves chased out again in the morning.

I had almost forgot to mention that we received our uniforms on Friday last, about 10 o'clock at night, just previous to our expected expedition, which was so suddenly terminated.

The uniform consists of dark blue blouse, precisely the same style as those we had in the three month's service, although much better made and lined throughout. The pants are of the same color, but I think better material.—There are but two companies in the regiment dreseed in this style, viz: companies L. and M. They are the flanking or skirmishing companies, company L occupying the right and company M the left flank of the regiment.

To-day eight companies of the regiment started out with axes, shovels and picks, and proceeded in the direction of the Chain Bridge, hewing down the forest as we went, to the distance of fifteen feet on each side of the road.—It was really astonishing to see how rapidly the work was performed. In the short space o four hours we cut down and cleared away nearly four miles of thick pine forest.

There is little news worthy of mention in camp, but should anything worthy of note occur I shall deem it an agreeable privilege, as well as a duty I owe to your kindness, to promptly inform you of it.

Our regiment is now known as the 33d Pennsylvania Regiment.

Very Respectfully Youre,
W. I. BLAIN.

CAMP CROSSMAN, HUNTINGDON, PA.,
September 20, 1861.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—If you will be so kind as to allow a soldier a little space in your paper, I will try to give you a faint idea of camp life as I find it in "Camp Crossman", near Huntingdon. This camp was established on the 4th of August, by order of General J. Y. James. It is now, in the abscence of the General, under command of Capt. Crowther, who brought the first company of men here. We have now in camp about twelve companies, or rather parts of companies, the number of men in all amounting to over 700. The companies are rapidly filling up, and we expect to have the brigade formed in a short time. The officers of the camp are men of experience energy and talent, and for the most part bound together by the ties of social friendship; and we are determined to have none other to rule or lead us than those who are willing to make sacrifice of home, friends and money to recruit men for their country's good, and, if needs be, to serve that country without one ambitious glance toward office, if such may interfere in any way with the harmonious progress of our camp. This being the case, those paper-headed Colonels who are dashing from pillar to post, seeking positions of honor and profit, when their merits lie in another direction, need not trouble themselves looking for offices here.

Col. Johnson, of Harrisburg, was here on the 16th, and informed us he expected to introduce a regiment into our camp, and we are looking for him every day.

Our officers and men are all in good spirits and buoyant with the hope of soon being able to join our freinds who are more directly seeking to aid their country in this day of trial.

The site of our camp has been excellently selected. The perimeter encloses about 18 acres, slightly undulating but still perfectly admissable as a drill-ground. We are about three miles from the town of Huntingdon, and 2½ miles from Warm Springs. There are hacks running between the town and camp all the time, and ladies and gentlemen visit us frequently. We mention this fact for the benefit of those who may wish to visit the camp without fatigueing themselves by a long walk.

The fact is, this does not appear to me to be camp life, as I have immagined it, at least in regard to provisions. We really live at home, for Uncle Sam supplies us with plenty of good bread, fresh and salt meat, coffee, sugar, rice, potatoes, &c., and but few days passes that we do not receive the compliments of Mrs. Shoemaker, or some other fair friend, in the shape of a basket of tomatoes, or, apples, a crock of pickles, or some other dainty which makes us smile, and gives us open countenances. All these things are very nice, but they are nothing in my eyes compared with the smiling faces of the young ladies who honor us with their presence at our quarters occasionally.

While we respectfully invite all our patriotic friends to visit us, we will inform them beforehand that they must not be surprised at the undeveloped state of the soldiers. They must be excused on the ground that they have been here but a short time, and most of that time engaged in putting up buildings for protection against the weather.

In my next I will endeavor to give a little more explicit account of affairs in this camp, and make my communications more interesting to the general reader.

A SOLDIER.

CAMP CAMERON, NEAR HARRISBURG,
September 23d, 1861.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As many of our friends in Altoona and vicinity will doubtless be pleased to hear from us, I hope you will not consider me intrusive if I send you a few notes of camp life. Our company is now located in Camp Cameron, about two miles from Harrisburg, in a beautiful situation on the border of a piece of woodland. It is laid out rather irregularly, owing to the unevenness of the ground. There are now fourteen companies of infantry, five companies of cavalry, and one battery of artillery in camp. Seven of the infantry companies belong to Col. Powers' Keystone Zouave Regiment Three more companies will arrive this week, when the full number of companies will be in camp. All the men belonging to the Zouave Regiment are now uniformed, and we expect by the last of the week to be fully equipped with new tents and camp furniture. The entire camp is under the control of Major Williams, 5th Artillery, U. S. A. He has established strict military discipline throughout.—Reveille beats at daybreak; Breakfast Call at 6 A. M.; Drill Call at 7½ A. M., when we have squad drill for one hour. Drill Call again at 9 A. M., when we have company drill for an hour and a half, in a field about one-fourth of a mile distant from camp. Dinner Call at 12 M. Police Call at 1 P. M. Drill Call again at 3 P. M. After drilling for two hours we have dress parade, and at 6 P. M. guard mounting. Tattoo beats at 8 P. M., and at 8½, Taps are sounded, when all lights must be extinguished and the men in their quarters. Major W. has also ordered that as soon as a competent officer can be obtained, an officers' drill and recitation in military tactics will be had daily. By this you will see what the general arrangements and duties of the camp are. Capt. Wayne's company, from Altoona, and Capt. Hicks' company from Duncansville, represent Blair county in the Regiment of Keystone Zouaves. And I may here say, that, notwithstanding the many malicious reports that have been circulated concerning the above named Captains, they have both succeeded in raising the number of men necessaryto constitute a company, and have them now in camp. Their companies are being increased by fresh accessions every day. The good name which the Zouaves have established for themselves has had the effect of inducing many to join, who would not have done so from any other motive, and has gained for us the approbation and praise of the commanding officer. It is a noticeable fact that all those who have been so exceedingly busy in circulating such injurious reports, are the very persons who would be the last to leave their homes and families to rally to the defence of their country.—They are generally those who would rather thrust their hands into Uncle Sam's pocket, for their own benefit, and who are governed more by the desire for their own aggrandizement than by motives of patriotism and love of country. But I will let them pass, and just remind them that all their efforts to injure have only urged those in command to more vigorous exertion.—Nothing of importance has occurred lately which will interest your readers. Whenever anything worthy of note takes place I will record it and you shall have it. In my next I will give you a list of the officers and men in Capt. Wayne's company. For the information of all who have friends in Capt. Wayne's company, I would advise them to direct their letters "in care of Capt. Wayne, Keystone Zouaves, Camp Cameron, near Harrisburg." KEYSTONE.

CAMP CORCORAN, near Washington,
September 19, 1861.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Permit me through the columns of your paper to acknowledge the receipt of a valuable and welcome present, in the shape of a large invoice of tobacco and segars, sent to me for the use of the "Blair County Sharp-Shooters," by some of our kind friends, in your town. Gentlemen, you have received a thousand thanks and several hearty cheers from the boys for your hospitality, and rest assured that you could scarcely have sent anything that would have given more pleasure and satisfaction to every one. Even those who do not use the "weed" are pleased to know that the wants of their fellows are supplied. By this act you have done good. You have encouraged and stimulated the boys to renewed vigor—you have instilled, as it were, new life into their souls, for they have now unmistakeable evidence that they are not forgotten by those they left behind them, and a willingness manifested to supply their wants with little extras which, to some, are almost indispensible, but which are rarely to be had on the "tented field." All feel determined, by the Divine blessing, to prove by their actions, whether in the camp or on the field of action, that they are worthy the confidence reposed in them by their friends at home. In this connection I desire to return my sincere thanks to my friend Hostetter for favors sent me as well as the company. This mark of friendship shall not soon be forgotten.

Very Truly Yours,
R. J. CROZIER.

P. S. All reports circulated about my company in ragard to the men refusing to take the oath, and the company disbanding, are lies. I have not a coward in my company. I know the author of the reports. He had better first join a company and take the oath himself before he expresses so much anxiety about others taking it. But this he will never willingly do. His slanders, however, did not prevent Lieut. Potts and Sergt. Morris from recruiting a number of splendid men for the company. My company is composed of gentlemen and they do their duty without grumbling. The best shots that have been made at target practice were by the "Sharp-Shooters." On one occasion Geo. M. Watson drove the centre, at another time Wm. Nolan hit the paper near the centre, and at another time Michael Halloran knocked the paper off the board. R. J. C.

☞ Capt. James Kacy, formerly mail agent between this place and Harrisburg, has recruited a company at Elliottsburg, Perry Co., and is now in Camp Curtin. Capt. K. will make an efficient and popular officer.

THE REBEL SCHEME AT HARPER'S FERRY.—The Washington "Republican" gives the following account of the deception used by the Virginia Rebel leaders to possess themselves of the armory buildings at Harper's Ferry. The statement is furnished by one whose veracity is vouched for, and who has been a sufferer by the theiveing depredations committed by the Virginia outlaws. It appears that the passage of the secession ordinance by the traitor convention of Virginia was at first a secret, and before its promulgation at Richmond, the delegates from the Harper's Ferry region had returned to their homes. The instant of their arrival there they summoned together the militia officers of their neighborhood, told them that another "John Brown raid" had been made at Harper's Ferry, and that they had been sent by Gov. Letcher, in obedience to a requisition made by President Lincoln, to call out the militia to repel the invasion. This appeal was promptly responded to, and Harper's Ferry was taken possession of by a body of men who believed they were acting under authority of the United States Government, and who never understood their true position, until, after a few days, they found strangers, secession leaders from the South, superceding their officers, and strange soldiers from distant parts looking with suspicion upon themselves. Dr. Funsten, of White Post, Clarke county, at present distinguished as a proscriptive and cruel officer of the rebels in that region, was peculiarly adroit and energetic in consummating this great act of villainy, which, like almost every act as yet performed by the rebel horde, is characterized by meanness, falsehood and fraud towards the loyal and peace-loving portion of their own citizens.

LANCES FOR THE UNITED STATES CAVALRY.—It appears that the lance is to be once more used as a weapon in the American army. A prominent manufacturer of Cincinnati has been ordered to make a sample weapon, and bid for the manufacture of a large number. There has always been a kind of romance attached to this weapon, and its adoption will serve to render the cavalry service additionally popular. The lance is composed of a sharp steel blade, from eight to ten inches long, shaped much like the common bayonet, which is attached to a handle, of light strong wood, from nine to twelve feet long. The whole weapon weighs from four to five pounds. It is hung to the arm of the rider by a swiveled strap, so that when not grasped it swings to an upright position, the lower end fitting into a leather boot. Lancers are more formidable than any other cavalry, because of their longer reach. This arm has not been used much in the United States service, because of its utter uselessness in Indian fighting, and on the Plains, where a hickory club is as formidable a weapon. But for charging on infantry, who resist with the bayonet, nothing can equal it. In close quarters the lancer depends upon his sabre.

REJECTING THEIR GOLD.—An amusing scene occurred in the camp of a Pennsylvania regiment last week. Our troops were engaged in a brisk skirmish with the rebels at Lewinsville, just above the Chain Bridge. Nearly opposite, on the Washington side of the river, Gen. McCall's division was in camp, and the paymaster was counting out the gold due the troops for their services. Word was received of what was going on over the river. The men sprang to their arms anticipating an order to march. The regiment among whom the money was being distributed turned their backs upon the paymaster and his treasure, as if it were a matter of no account. One man was signing a receipt for his yellow heap then lying on the table; he dropped his pen and rushed for the camp, leaving pen, paper and gold to take care of themselves. Another hastily shouted, "hold on to mine 'till to-morrow," and darted from the tent. The paymaster was left alone with the gold, with time to contemplate the curious incidents of war.

DRAFTING IN NEW YORK.—Letters from the highest military authorities at the Elmira rendezvous, state that recruiting goes on so slowly that the Governor of New York will be compelled to resort to drafting. An order to that effect will soon be published. Of the necessity for this step there can be but little question, when it is added that of 25,000 men recently called for by the Governor, six weeks since, only some 7,000 have responded.

MILITARY UNIFORMS.—There is, perhaps, no department of military business in which there has been a more marked improvement than in the clothing of soldiers.—Not many years since, officers and privates were clad in garments which were almost skin-tight. They wore leather stocks, which were worthy of the name, for they kept the wearer in tribulation; while their padded breasts and tight sleeves made volition a matter of great difficulty. During the present war, such of our volunteers as procure their uniforms at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street above Sixth, Philadelphia, obtain clothing that is perfectly easy, substantial and becoming. The firm named hrve gone largely into the business of making Military Clothing, and their facilities enable them to fill the largest orders in the shortest possible time.

☞ As our readers know, it is not often we notice a patent medicine of any kind, but there is something so good in the Restorative Cordial of Prof. Wood, and it is so pleasant withal, that we step aside from our usual practice to recommend this scientific tonic Cordial to our readers. It will no doubt do all that is claimed for it. The name and world-wide reputation of the inventor is a sufficient guarantee for that, but we have tried it, and know it will exhilarate and strengthen by toning up the weakened organs, and enabling them to perform all their functions. Reader try it, and we fear not your verdict. See advertisement.

☞ We invite special attention to the advertisement of Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator, in another column. For weakness and general debility there is nothing like it; it will strengthen, exhilarate, create an appetite at once, regulate the billous system, aid digestion and in short, restore the weakened organs to all their original vigor and strength. So valuable a Tonic Cordial should be in the hands of every invalid and in every family. Reader, try it.

☞ Even those who are in the enjoyment of perfect health frequently have need to have recourse to tonics as preventives of disease. We are never too well armored against the assaults of "the ills that flesh is heir to."—Such an invigorator they may find in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—a medicine that cannot be taken regularly without giving vitality and elasticity to the system. At this season, particularly, the strongest man is not proof against the malaria, in certain sections of the country. In all cases of fever and ague, the BITTERS is more potent than amount of quinine, while the most dangerous cases of bilious fever yield to its wonderful properties. Those who have tried the medicine will never use another, for any of the ailments which the Hostetter Bitters professes to subdue. To those who have not made the experiment, we cordially recommend an early application to the Bitters, whenever they are stricken by diseases of the digestive organs. ☞ Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

☞ We take great pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator, in another column of our paper. It is seldom we take any notice of patent medicines, but we cannot refrain from speaking of this Cordial, and do justice to the afflicted as well as ourselves. We have watched the progress of this Cordial since its first introduction to the public, and we are satisfied that there is nothing in use for cleaning the system and renovating the blood, that can be compared with Prof. Wood's Cordial.—Any one suffering from general debility, after using one bottle will see its beneficial effects. We have a long acquaintance with the proprietor, and know him to be skilled in the science of medicine; and anything compounded by him the public can rely upon as being just what it is recommended. We would advise all sick or well to get a bottle. It is pleasant to the taste, and exhilarating to the system. But we refrain from further comments, as any one, after using one bottle, will be satisfied as to its effects.

TO OUR PATRONS.

Kind patrons, it is a long time since we have addressed you on the money subject, and we feel sure that the files of our paper will bear us out in the assertion that we have dunned less in the last three years, than any other publishers in the country. In fact we have but once asked, through our paper, for money in that time. The reason is, because we do not like to be "dunned," consequently we do not like to dunn others. But we now want money for a particular purpose, and if our patrons who are in debt for subscription, advertising and job work, will pay up, we will have enough to accomplish our purpose, and that purpose will be beneficial to our subscribers and patrons as well as ourselves. Now we don't want one of our patrons to withhold the amount of his indebtedness thinking that all the rest will pay up and it will make no difference about his mite. If this be the case we shall not succeed. We want all that is due us. If our desires are acceded to, promptly, we shall effect our purpose by the first of October, at which time we shall extend an invitation to our patrons that will astonish them. We are in earnest, friends, and if you come up as you should, we will, at the time appointed, show you something never before seen in this section of the country. Your bills are all made out, so there need be no delay.

CONFLICTING REPORTS.—We were not a little surprised on reading, in the Harrisburg Telegraph, of last week, an official document signed by Major Williams, in command of Camp Cameron, in which Capt. McNally, from this place, and his company of some 80 men are published as deserters from the camp. The statement given was that Capt. McN. was ordered to take his company to Harrisburg, to have the men sworn into the service. On arriving at Harrisburg they took the cars and went to Lancaster, and joined Col. (late Capt.) Hambright's regiment, which is attached to Gen. Jas. S. Negley's brigade, and Gen. N. was indirectly charged with inducing Capt. McN. and his men to pursue this course. In the Telegraph of Monday evening last, we find a statement from Gen. Negley, in which it is stated that Capt. McNally's company had been refused provisions, tents, blankets or straw, by Major Williams at Camp Cameron, and that the men, who had not yet been sworn in, positively refused to go back to Camp Cameron, declaring that they would disband if they were not allowed to go to Lancaster and join Col. Hambright's regiment, which was then under marching orders. Gen. Negley questions whether Major Williams has any authority over men before they are sworn into service, and whether he has any right to publish them as deserters. What may be the end of the difficulty we do not know. Capt. McNally and his men will do their duty in any position, and the question is whether they were or were not free to choose for themselves previous to being sworn into the service.

To the Mothers, Sisters, Daughters and Friends of the Volunteers from Altoona and Vicinity.

The Quarter-Master General of Pennsylvania having given notice that there will not be a sufficient supply of woolen stockings for our soldiers during the coming winter, and that they cannot be had at the stores or manufactories in the country, those of you whose husbands, sons, brothers or friends have left the comforts of home-life for the hardships and perils of the camp and field, have now an opportunity of again manifesting your sympathy for them and the great cause they serve. It is proposed to supply each member of Capt. Wayne's company with two pairs of good home-knit stockings. They should be of the best wool and of two sizes, ten and twelve inches long, with double heels and toes, and every pair should be accompanied with a ball of yarn for darning.

Let the friends of the soldiers be prompt in their response to this appeal and they may be provided for in one week from this time.

Stockings may be left with B. F. Rose, Esq., Dr. Findley, or at the stores of J. B. Hileman, and Alexander McCormick, and they will be forwarded direct to Capt. Wayne.

☞ Through the columns of last week's Register we were informed that Hugh A. Caldwell, Esq., had become part proprietor of that establishment, and would conduct the publication of the paper during the absence of Judge Jones, who is filling a Secretaryship in the War Department, at Washington, at $1200 a year. We welcome Mr. C. to the corps editorial, knowing that he will make a worthy member thereof.—May his new position prove a pleasant and lucrative one.

☞ Some time since we picked up the following in an out-of-the-way place, where it had evidently been lost; and as no person has since made inquiry about it, and we think it wrong that it should be permitted to pass from the stage entirely, we give it a place in our columns for the benefit of any little boy who may be at a loss to find a suitable speech for an exhibition occasion:

CHARLES CHATTERBOX.

Ladies and gentlemen—hem—hem—hem—
I'm glad you look so kindly, for, somehow or other,
My mem'ry seems to be in a kind of a bother.
I don't know how it comes, and I wish some one would tell
Why it is, that when I learn a piece perfectly well,
And stand up, as you see me now, expecting well to speak,
I cannot recollect a word, and feel like Jerry Sneak;
Although my tongue is free to run on any other matter,
It's now as dumb as any fish, caught, fried and on a platter.
I wonder what the memory is? And when a piece is lost,
As this is, that I learned by heart, at twenty-four hours cost,
Where did it go to? Let me see. How did the piece begin?
'Twas a great L—I'm sure it was—but, if it cost my skin,
I could not say what followed L! Stop! Yes! I have it now—
"Lend me your ears,"—that's it—that's right—but then allow
You lend your ears, what good will't do, unless you lend your tongue?
For that's the organ by whose aid a speech is said or sung.
"Lend me your ears—what did come next? I cannot get it yet.
Don't tell the Master I forgot, for terribly he'll fret;
For he expected more of me than any other one
Because I talk so fast, I s'pose. But what is to be done?—
For he had an idea that I could speak a piece right smart;
And so I could, if he or you would give a body a start.
My speech, it was a master-piece—that is, the Master wrote it:
And he'll be vexed enough to find that I so soon forgot it.
He calculated much, I know, on immortality.
And thought you'd all in raptures die, with him, as well as me,
But twixt ourselves [winking,] the piece at best is all a fiddle-de dee.

☞ We don't believe there is any person in the universe but dreads the idea of having a tooth "pulled;" and the reason is obvious: it hurts pretty bad—bad enough to make people cry out sometimes. Well, if we can inform people who have "teeth to pull," of a process whereby they can be extracted without pain, of course they will thank us, at least they should. It is said that extracting teeth by means of an electro-magnetic instrument is without pain.—Our friend, Dr. Bittner, whose office is at the Masonic Temple, uses this instrument very successfully, and if any one can extract without pain, it is Dr. B., for he does it so quick without the instrument that you have hardly time to feel the pain.

☞ Our townsman, Enos M. Jones, Esq., who is an independent candidate for Prothonotary, is distributing his tickets among his friends, with a fair prospect of polling a heavy vote, if not gaining the day, on Tuesday week. Mr. Jones would make a first-rate officer,—one who would give satisfaction to all persons having business in the Prothonotary's office, and we should like to see a citizen from our side of the county obtain one of the lucrative Court-House offices of the county. Mr. Jones made an excellent Commissioner, and he would make an equally good Prothonotary.

COMING TO THE POINT.—For the present we are still in suspense as regards the future movements of the Army of the Potomac. General McClellan is cautious, and wisely keeps his plans to himself, so that when and where the decisive blow will be struck is all a matter of conjecture. But of one thing we are certain, and that is, that Roush still keeps on hand all the various articles usually kept in good Drug Stores, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Perfumeries, Oils, Paints, Varnishes, Notions, &c., which he disposes of at low prices. Give him a call.

COUNTY CORONER.—This office is looked upon as one of very small import, and in fact it is hardly worth an effort to obtain. Our young townsman, Wm. H. Percival, is an independent candidate for that office, as will be seen by reference to his card in another column. William would make an excellent Coroner, and, by reason of infirmities which prevent him from performing manual labor, he is certainly entitled to the little benefit the office might be to the holder. We hope all our friends will give Bill a lift.

LIVER COMPLAINTS,

SICK HEADACHE, DYSPEPSIA, &C.

JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS,

A MILD, PROMPT & EFFECTIVE REMEDY.

THERE is scarcely any disease in which purgative medicines are not required; and much sickness and suffering might be prevented were they more generally used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails; besides, it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases, which might be avoided by the timely and judicious use of proper Cathartic medicines.

Convinced of the correctness of these views,

JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS

Are recommended with the greatest confidence, experience having demonstrated them to be far superior to any other in use, being more mild, prompt, safe and uniform in their operation. While using them no particular care is required, and patients may eat and drink as usual. Age will not impair them, as to always readily dissolve in the stomach. In small doses they are alterative and gently laxative, but in large doses are actively cathartic, cleansing the whole alimentary canal from all putrid, irritating and fecal matters.

For DYSPEPSIA, these Pills are really an invaluable article, gradually changing the vitiated secretions of the Stomach and Liver, and producing healthy action in those important organs. In cases of long standing, a cure will be more speedily effected by using, in conjunction with the Pills, either JAYNE'S ALTERATIVE or TONIC VERMIFUGE, according to directions.

For Liver Complaint, Gout, Jaundice, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fevers, Nervousness, Diseases of the Skin, Impurity of the Blood, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Piles, Female Diseases, and Billious Affections, these Pills have proved themselves eminently successful. All that is asked for them is a fair trial.

As these Pills have proved themselves so eminently successful in removing diseases of the Liver, Dyspepsia and diseases of the Skin, I have thought it advisable to add the following remarks on

LIVER COMPLAINT.

This is a disease much talked about, but at the same time very imperfectly understood.

Properly speaking, every derangement of the Liver or Billious system is a Liver Complaint, but the peculiar state of the Liver to which I now have reference is a Chronic Affection and usually arises from a torpid or congestive state of that important organ. Sometimes the bile is deficient in quantity, or vitiated in quality, or both these states prevail at the same time. Sometimes the disease is owing to obstruction in the duct or pipe which conveys the bile from the liver into the bowels. This obstruction is very frequent, and is usually caused by the pipe being clogged up by thick tenacious slime or mucous, and sometimes by gall stones. The bile is then thrown back into the gall-bladder, where it is absorbed by numerous small vessels which convey it into the Thoracic Duct, a pipe that runs up along the spine, and terminates in and empties itself into the large vein of the left shoulder, near its junction with the veins of the head and neck, and thence the bile is conveyed to the heart and becomes mixed with the blood. The bile in this manner being diverted from its proper course, and circulating in a part of the body where it never was designed by nature, produces much evil, and often disastrous effects upon the health of the individual—because, for want of healthy bile to mix with the half-digested food, a complete separation never takes place between the chyle (the milky liquor which forms the blood) and those portions of the food designed by nature to be ejected from the bowels—for the bile, when present, purifies and separates the healthy from the unhealthy portions, in the same manner that isinglass or white of eggs separate wine or cider from their impurities—and, consequently, the very fountain of life is vitiated and corrupted. Costiveness prevails—or alternately costiveness or diarrhœa—wind in the stomach and bowels, and the patient is often annoyed with worms, and frequently with the piles. The coarse particles of the bile thus mixed with the blood, more or less obstruct the pores of the skin and small blood-vessels, and hence give rise to various diseases of the skin, such as erysipelas, cozema, itchings, small watery vessels, blotches tumors, pimples, scurfiness, boils, sore eyes, sores and ulcers of various kinds. The skin is more or less yellow, and (when the disease is of long standing,) often very dark, and has a disagreeable, dirty, greasy appearance, and sometimes there is a perfect jaundice. The white of the eyes also has a green or yellow tinge.

MORE OR LESS bile is strained from the blood in its passage through the kidneys, and, by its acrimony, produces pains in the back, and scalds and irritates all the urinary passages. Some days the passage of urine is profuse, and natural in appearance; at other times it is scanty, and the desire to evacuate is frequent and urgent. Sometimes the color is nearly white and milky, but usually it is high colored, red or yellow, with a rank, offensive odor, and sometimes it is bloody.

The tongue is usually more or less coated with a brown scurf. There is irritation, and frequently chronic inflammation of the inner surface of the stomach and bowels, with a tenderness on pressure, and a soreness along the lower edge of the ribs.

SOMETIMES THERE IS A LOATHING of food, and at other times there is a voracious appetite. There is often a feeling of chilliness, and coldness of the feet and knees, and along the inside of the thighs—sour or bitter eructations, and sometimes a spitting or throwing up of the food after eating.

There is a feeling of oppression across the stomach and chest, as if pressed down by a weight; troublesome and often frightful dreams, low spirits, languor, want of energy, melancholy restlessness and discontentedness, dreaminess of mind—timorousness and a great deal of trouble, and a disposition to magnify everything, sometimes great watchfulness and an inability to sleep—at others great drowsiness, weariness, and disinclination to motion.

AT TIMES THE FACE is flushed, with more or less fever, especially at night or in the afternoon. Sometimes violent colics, and wandering pains in various parts of the body. Frequently there is a short hacking cough, with a huskiness of the throat, and sometimes a very severe, dry, and hard cough, which is often mistaken for consumption. This cough often commences in the latter part of the night or early in the morning, and lasts for hours, frequently producing nausea and vomiting. If there be any expectoration, it is a tough, ropy, tenacious phlegm, which adheres to everything it touches. There are also frequently chronic pleurisy pains in various parts of the chest, which shift about from one part of the breast or side to the other. Sometimes abscesses form in the liver, and pressing upward on the lungs, produce constriction and cough, and breaking, discharge their contents into the lungs, whence it must be ejected by expectoration, or the patient is destroyed. Some persons are troubled with spasmodic twitches in various parts of the body, sometimes faintness and sighing, difficulty of breathing; reading or talking producing weariness. THERE IS A BEATING SENSATION near the pit of the stomach, with palpitation and fluttering of the heart; profusion of dandruff and loss of the hair; indeed, to sum up in a few words—a yellow, dirty, greasy appearance of the skin, a yellow or green tinge of the white of the eyes, an aching pain across the kidneys and hips, with irritation or heat in discharging urine—a sensation of fullness or distension across the abdomen, with tenderness on pressure—lowness of spirits, frightful dreams, acidity of stomach, with other dyspeptic symptoms, billious fevers, billious colics and billous diarrhœa and dysenteries, obstinate costiveness, intermittent and remittent fevers, jaundice, fever and ague, &c., all originate from the same cause—a deranged state of the liver. Violent remedies always do more harm than good; but, by a persevering use of these pills, all that can be desired will be accomplished.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT is to give the patient, every night on going to bed, from two four Sanative pills; or enough of them to insure one and not more than two evacuations from the bowels next morning.—The dose of the Pills can be increased or diminished at pleasure, so as to produce the above effect, and their use should be continued until a cure is completed; and also, at the same time give the Alterative three times a day according to the directions, unless there is a want of appetite, with weakness and debility or symptoms of worms prevail, when, instead of the Alterative, give a teaspoonful of the Vermifuge, (mixed in a little cold water and sweetened to please the taste, about half an hour before each meal, until these symptoms are removed; and if there should be cough, or oppression about the throat or chest, then give the expectorant as often and in such doses as may be found necessary to quiet the cough and make expectoration easy.

The Sanative Pills, and all of DR. D. JAYNE'S Family Medicines, are sold by C. JAGGARD and G. W. KESSLER, Altoona, and by Agents everywhere, from whom may also be obtained, gratis, Jayne's Medical Almanac and Guide to Health, containing besides a valuable calendar, a Catalogue of Diseases, together with the symptoms by which they may be known, and the proper remedies for their cure.

COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, ETC.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT

Has been for Thirty Years the STANDARD REMEDY.

RECENT COUGHS AND COLDS, PLEURITIC PAINS, ETC., are quickly and effectually cured by its diaphoretic, soothing and expectorant power.

ASTHMA it always cures. It overcomes the spasmodic contraction of the air-vessels, and by producing free expectoration at once removes all difficulty of breathing.

BRONCHITIS readily yields to the Expectorant. It subdues the inflammation which extends through the wind-tubs, producees free expectoration, and suppresses at once the cough and pain.

CONSUMPTION.—For this insidious and fatal disease, no remedy on earth has ever been found so effectual. It subdues the inflammation, relieves the cough and pain, removes the difficulty of breathing, and produces an easy expectoration, whereby all irritating and obstructing matters are removed from the lungs.

WHOOPING COUGH is promptly relieved by this Expectorant. It shortens the duration of the disease one-half, and greatly mitigates the suffering of the patient.

In all PULMONARY COMPLAINTS, in CROUP, PLEURISY, etc., it will be found to be prompt, safe, pleasant, and reliable, and may be especially commended to MINISTERS, TEACHERS, and SINGERS for the relief of hoarseness, and for strengthening the organs of the voice.

This EXPECTORANT and all of DR. D. JAYNE'S Family Medicines are sold by C. JAGGARD and G. W. KESSLER. Altoona, and by Agents everywhere. [sep. 26-6m.

PROF. O. J. WOOD'S RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD RENOVATOR.

IS precisely what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, exhilarating and strengthening to the vital powers. It also revivifies, reinstates and renews the blood in all its original purity, and thus restores and renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be within the reach of all.

So chemically and skillfully combined as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly adapted so as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and hence soothe the weakest stomach and tone up the digestive organs, and allay all nervous and other irritation. It is also perfectly exhilarating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed entirely of vegetables, and those thoroughly combining powerful tonic and soothing properties, and consequently can never injure. As a sure preventive and cure of

CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, LOSS OF APPETITE, FAINTNESS, NERVOUS IRRITABILITY, NEURALGIA, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, MELANCHOLY, NIGHT SWEATS, LANGUOR, GIDDINESS, AND ALL THAT CLASS OF CASES SO FEARFULLY FATAL CALLED FEMALE WEAKNESS, AND IRREGULARITIES.

THERE IS NOTHING ITS EQUAL.

Also, Liver Derangements or Torpidity, and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidney, or any general derangement of the Urinary organs.

It will not only cure the debility following CHILLS and FEVER, but prevent all attacks arising from Miasmatic influences, and cure the diseases at once, if already attached.

Travelers should have a bottle with them, as it will infallibly prevent any deleterious consequences following upon change of climate and water.

As it prevents costiveness, strengthens the digestive organs, it should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits.

Ladies not accustomed to much out-door exercise should always use it.

Mothers should use it, for it is a perfect relief, taken a month or two before the final trial, she will pass the dreadful period with perfect ease and safety.

There is no mistake about it.

THE CORDIAL IS ALL WE CLAIM FOR IT!

MOTHERS TRY IT!!

And to you we appeal, to detect the illness or decline not only of your daughters before it be too late, but also your sons and husbands, for while the former from false delicacy, often go down to a premature grave, rather than let their condition be known in time, the latter are often so mixed up with the excitement of business, that if it were not for you, they too, would travel in the same downward path until it is too late to arrest their fatal fall. But the mother is always vigilant, and to you we confidently appeal; for we are sure your never-failing affection will unerringly point you to PROF. WOOD'S RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD RENOVATOR as the remedy which should always be on hand in time of need.

JACOB SNYDER, TAILOR,
The Hero of One Hundred Fits per Month!

I would respectfully set forth my claim to public attention, as a Fashionable Tailor, as follows:

Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.

Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.

Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.

Because long experience in my business gives me entire control over it, and I am not dependant upon any one to lift me out of the suds.

Because I am still on the sunny side of forty, and therefore my taste as a Cutter and workman unimpaired.

Call on me, in the corner room of the "Brant House." Give me a trial and you will go away pleased.

PROF. L. MILLER'S
HAIR INVIGORATOR!!

AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and preventing the hair from turning gray.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SCURF AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections of the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleanses the head and scalp from dandruff and other cutaneous diseases, causes the hair to grow luxuriantly, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thining, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts, from persons of the highest respectability. It will effectually prevent the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has already changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving it a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the toilet and a Hair Restorative it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of the Invigorator, in cases where the childrens' Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair, as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child, and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the fac simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass.

Wholesale Depot, 56 Dey St., and sold by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the world.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity.

LABOR-SAVING
WASHING MACHINE.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING purchased the right for Blair county, of

Tolhurst's Improved Washing Machine,

are now manufacturing them at Altoona, and intend to supply them to those persons throughout the county who desire a LABOR-SAVING MACHINE.

This machine is got up on an entirely new principle, and is considered, by those who have seen it in use, the best that has ever been brought before the public.

Among the many advantages of this machine over all others may be mentioned the following:

1st. Its simplicity of construction, making it almost impossible to get out of order.

2d. Its speed, which astonishes alike the operator and the looker on.

3rd. The facility with which it adapts itself to the bulk or qantity of clothes desired to be washed.

4th. It washes equally well the finest and lightest fabric or the coarsest and heaviest, such as bed-quilts, comforts, blankets, &c.

McMINN & DERN,
Altoona, Blair County, Pa.

We the undersigned, hereby certify that we are now using Tolhurst's Improved Washing Machine and are fully satisfied that it is a very excellent article of the kind; combining as it does great speed with little labor and performing its work in the most satisfactory manner. We therefore cheerfully recommend it to all who desire a real labor-saving washing machine.

HAT & CAP EMPORIUM,

ALL THE LATEST STYLES OF HATS and CAPS constantly on hand. It is the determination of the proprietor of this Emporium to keep up with the times and fashions, and to do this he spares no expense. He has just received his supply of

SPRING AND SUMMER HATS AND CAPS,

It must be seen to be believed.—Go and see Jesse if you want to see a live hatter and a fashionable stock.

He has also a fine assortment of CHILDREN'S HATS and FLATS, to which he invites the attention of solicitous mothers. At his store they will find something which will excel all their neighbors in the way of fashion and beauty. Go, mothers, and examine and select from Jesse Smith's stock.

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS and PHŒNIX BITTERS.

THESE MEDICINE HAVES NOW been before the public for a period of thirty years, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the

are well known to be infallible.

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss of Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill Temper, Anxiety, Langour, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS, and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

SCORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing, by the use of the Life Medicines alone.

FEVER & AGUE.—For this scourge of the Western country, these medicines will be found a safe, speedy and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these medicines is permanent—try them, be satisfied, and be cured.

BILLIOUS FEVERS and LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General debility, loss of appetite and diseases of females—the medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—Kings Evil and Scrofula, in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. Night Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Complaints of all kinds, Palpitation of the Heart, Painters' Colic, are speedily cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.—Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, will find these medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system all the effects of Mercury, infinitely sooner than the most powerful preparation of Sarsaparilla.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOKING STOVES.

CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supercede all others, as it requires than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas arises from this stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it can escape. There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove. Neither is there any danger of flues or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal fires.

ONE-THIRD LESS FUEL

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Masonic Temple, and examine the above stoves. JOHN SHOEMAKER,

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half-million bottles, and from its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a necessity for a stimulant to recuperate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers generally prefer the Bitters to all other invigorators that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the taste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

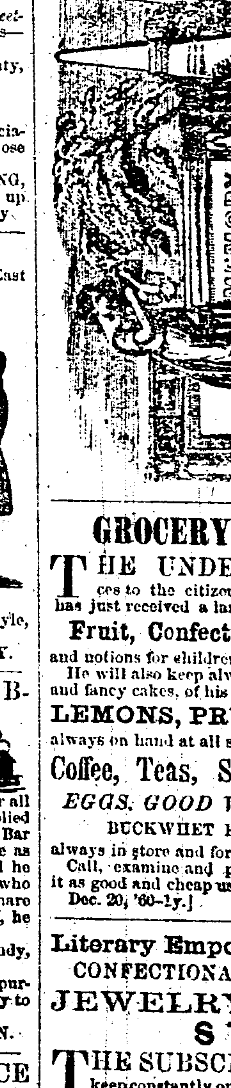

All those persons, to whom we have particularly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhœa, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, superannuated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters a trial.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.
